

Website text for GP website

Your medical data can improve healthcare

Our practice is working with Leiden University Medical Centre (LUMC) and other organisations to improve healthcare for you and in our community. The collaboration is called ELAN (Extramural Leiden Academic Network).

Researchers are given access to a coded copy of your digital medical records, which may be linked to other research databanks. Personal information which can identify you, such as name and address are not shared. Some research requires personal information which can identify you. In these cases your physician will contact you and ask for your permission. It is your choice whether you participate or not.

For more information see the ELAN poster and patient information folder on the internet (www.lumc.nl/elan) or in our waiting area.

Or (for GP Supervisors)

Your medical data can improve healthcare

In addition to providing patient care, our practice also trains medical students, and supports scientific research. We are working with Leiden University Medical Centre (LUMC) and other organisations to improve healthcare for you and in our community. The collaboration is called ELAN (Extramural Leiden Academic Network).

Researchers are given access to a coded copy of your digital medical records, which may be linked to other research databanks. Personal information which can identify you, such as name and address are not shared. Let us know if you do not want your coded medical records to be shared.

For more information see the ELAN poster and patient information folder on the internet (www.lumc.nl/elan) or in our waiting area.